TEXAS CITY DEAD NOW AT 421; RISING

Mayor of City Lashes Out With Criticism of Red Cross Help There

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
TEXAS CITY, Tex., April 21—Roy Wade, official of the department of public safety, announced today that the explosion-dead in this sorrowing Coastal City now totals 421 and said the death list will total not less than 575.

Wade, administrative assistant to C. H. Garner, chief of the Texas agency, said 295 persons still are missing and 132 victims remain unidentified.

Mayor J. C. Trahan reassured Texas City that there was no danger of new explosions from leaking naphtha gas.

Says Aid Not Red Cross
Earlier Trahan had criticized the Red Cross for its handling of relief activities in the blast-torn town. An official of the Red Cross, however, assured him that the organization was doing everything possible to aid victims.

Thirty-five bodies were recovered yesterday, the majority from the torn steel and debris in the 70-acre blast area.

A Red Cross list posted Saturday listed 580 persons presumed dead, but at Red Cross headquarters in Galveston yesterday an official said 19 of the names listed had been found alive.

Trahan told Gerald Wessellus of St. Louis, local director of the Red Cross activities, that "the relief that has been given to the people of Texas City has not come from the Red Cross."

The mayor called on Wessellus to tell him that "too many people are coming to the City Hall to tell us that they have appealed to the Red Cross for aid and that help has been denied them."

Wessellus answered: "I don't know of any such cases. The Red Cross is here to do everything possible to help victims of this explosion. We are here to attend to emergency needs of all kinds: food, clothing, shelter, medical attention."

DENMARK KING DEAD; SON TO SUCCEED HIM

Popular King Christian, Democratic Ruler, Dies Sunday

By OLE LAUB
COPENHAGEN, April 21—King Frederik IX, 48-year-old lover of music, seafaring and speed, took Denmark's throne today as successor to his father, Christian X, whose death at 76 last night ended a reign of 35 years through two World wars.

Knud Kristensen, premier of this constitutional monarchy, was scheduled to proclaim him king—the thirty-eighth of his line—this afternoon (3 p. m.—9 a. m. EST) from the balcony of parliament's meeting place, Christiansborg castle—thus formalizing his automatic succession to rulership when Christian died. Preliminary to the proclamation was a meeting of the cabinet council, to which Frederik belongs.

Had Been Ill 15 Days
Death came to Christian at 4:04 p. m. in his curtained three-windowed bedroom of Amalienborg castle in the center of Copenhagen.

He had been ill 15 days—since suffering a heart attack Easter Sunday, and unconscious almost eight hours. A doctor—one of the king's four—reported death due to heart failure. While bedfast, Christian had developed lung trouble and gangrene.

With the king when he died were Queen Alexandrine; Crown Prince Frederik, regent since April 8; Frederik's wife, Ingrid, and Christian's other son, Prince Knud, 46. A court source reported the king's last words to them were:

"My task on this earth is over. I have peace with my god and with myself. I am so tired."

Outside waited some 5,000 of the king's subjects. To them the word was passed, "His majesty died 10 minutes ago." Men took off their hats. Women bowed, some with tears in their eyes. This city's two main newspapers, publication suspended because of a strike, broadcast the news by loudspeaker.

Provide Music
Special music for the institute was provided by four girls of the Salem church, Polly Ailes, Phyllis Floyd, Margaret Cope and Camille Eutriecker, and two Winona boys, Jack Dusenberry and James Taylor. Mrs. Loren Early was the accompanist.

In a brief talk on "Youth Dares," Dr. Paul Carter of Steubenville, district superintendent, challenged the young people to accept Christ's way of living.

The institute was arranged by Rev. John Clark of New Waterford, dean of institutes.

Dr. Russell Humbert, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, Youngstown, who was the main speaker at the afternoon session, discussed "Stewardship." His talk was followed by group discussions on this theme.

A meeting of the district council, a recreation period and a supper concluded this session.

Approximately 300 young people attended. The district is comprised of 65 churches, with 125 churches.

SALEM BANDSMEN RATED TOPS IN MUSICAL CONTEST

Ten Salem High student musicians will compete in the state solo and ensemble contest in Columbus May 10, following an outstanding performance in the district contest at Muskingum college, New Concord, Saturday.

The group, accompanied by Band Director C. M. Brautigam, compiled a remarkable record at Muskingum. It was not equaled in any of the six events entered.

The brass sextet, composed of Robert Hodges, Richard Swartz, Wallace Burrell, Tom Halbach, William Parks, and Glen Lewis, was given a "superior" rating. The judges' comment on their performance was "very good tone; good players on all instruments."

A similar "superior" rating went to the clarinet trio of Gene Shaffer, Lucy Huston and Jean Leider.

The other contestant, Leo Copacchia, Jr., received a "superior" for his snare drum solo.

Best Showing Yet
Those 10 contestants will advance to the Columbus finals. It was the first time, said Brautigam, that he had ever entered a group that rated top positions in each event. None of the other Class A entries received "superior" ratings in any of the above events.

The Salem majorette ensemble of Joy Chessman, Loretta Cocco, Billie Finley, Mary Lou Haessly, Barbara Lane and Jeanne Redinger, entered the contest for comment only. The non-musical events were eliminated from state competition in 1939.

Their performance was described by judges as "picturesque, with routines well worked out. The uniforms are colorful and there is a definite advantage in having a group such as this in front of a band."

Misses Redinger and Lane also drew favorable comment in the baton division, as solo performers.

PRESIDENT TERMS SITUATION "ACUTE" ASKS UNITED MOVE TO RE-ADJUST U. S. ECONOMICS

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, April 21—President Truman, cautioning that the economic situation is "acute," appealed today for a united effort to bring prices down and prevent a depression.

Addressing the annual luncheon of members of the Associated Press the chief executive said there must be:

1. "Moderation on the part of business,"
2. "Forbearance on the part of labor," plus greater productivity.
3. "All-out effort on the part of the farmer."
4. "Wise guidance and action on the part of the government."

Here he reiterated his plea against cutting taxes now and called for extension of rent, export and credit controls.

The address, highlight of newspaper convention week in New York City, was broadcast by the four major networks from the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria.

The President praised the service of the American press in wartime. Then he said:

"We are now at a stage in our national economic life when the American press can render similar service."

"The manner in which the American press makes clear to our citizens the problems that we face in maintaining our prosperity—and the reasons why it is essential to advance that prosperity—can help determine the future welfare of every family in the United States."

U. S. STEEL GIVES GENERAL PAY BOOST

Officials Grant $1 a Day Raise To Employees; Union Accepts

(By Associated Press)
PITTSBURGH, April 21—Agreement on wage increases of $1 a day for 140,000 U. S. Steel Corp. workers today cheered the entire industry with the prospect of a year of strike-free production.

The pay hikes—agreed upon yesterday by Philip Murray, president of the CIO and the United Steelworkers, and J. A. Stephens, "Big Steel" vice president—won quick approval by the union's executive board.

The raises affect employees of five major producing subsidiaries and are expected to set the wage boost pattern for other steel companies as well as other industries.

The agreement comes before the union's 175-man wage and policy committee today for final approval. The union said signature of the pact could be expected tomorrow.

According to a new contract was hailed by some executive board members as "a great victory."

No Price Rise Expected
President Benjamin F. Fairless of the steel corporation issued a statement in which he said he hoped the cost of the increases could be taken care of in the present price structure. He asked employees' cooperation in absorbing the costs by improving efficiency.

His statement said of the union's demand for portal-to-portal pay that: "The union has agreed that the companies shall not be obligated to pay for travel or walking time or time spent in preparatory and closing activities during the term of the new agreement."

"We must count heavily on the acceptance by our employees of their obligation to help absorb these new costs by increased effort and improved efficiency."

U. S. Steel put the direct cost of the wage increases at $75,000,000, including pay boosts for fabricating companies expected to sign similar pacts. The steelworkers' announcement estimated the cost at more than $42,000,000 but explained that figure applied only to the five subsidiaries involved in the present agreement.

Here is the pay increase arrangement—which may be repeated after one year—by Murray and Stephens settled in three days of highly private man-to-man conferences:

An additional $1 a day (or 12 1/2 cent an hour) for all workers, plus slightly more than two and one-half cents which the union said would cover the cost of additional benefits and bring total raises to a little more than 15 cents.

Fairless said the average weekly pay would rise from $52.50 to $58.50 under the new contract, which will be retroactive to April 1. He put the average hourly wage rate at $1.47.

Unhappy Happy

With the exception of Henry Wallace, no public figure has been taking more of a panning than A. B. Chandler, the not-so-happy high commissioner of baseball. Since his suspension of Leo Durocher for one year, uncompromising adjectives have been spattering about him like overripe tomatoes on Halloween.

A key to the plight Chandler finds himself in is his nickname, which is Happy. A glad-handing politician with a smile and a pat on the back for all, he suddenly finds himself in the shoes of Keweenaw Mountain Landis, a grim, unapproachable jurist with a reputation for severity during his years on the federal bench. Strong men ran for cover when Judge Landis was displeased. He was austere and he discouraged familiarity. When he handed down a ruling, it came without delay, and try as he might, no sports page expert could pick a flaw in it. Everybody knew the judge was boss.

Happy Chandler has tried to carry his sunny-boy reputation into the commissioner's job. But you can't play the prince of good fellows and pal around with baseball officials one day and expect to crack the whip over them the next. Judge Landis knew that before he became commissioner, Happy may have found out too late.

'Le Grand Charlie'

Charles De Gaulle, around whom French resistance rallied after the Petain capitulation, has come out of retirement to head a movement called "the rally of the French People."

He seeks to forge order out of chaos. Politically, France has been like a ship without a rudder since the war. All the weaknesses of coalition government are exemplified in France where a bitter struggle for control has been going on.

De Gaulle seeks a union of Popular Republicans, Socialists, radicals and unaffiliated liberals whose aims are not greatly at variance and who might conceivably rally behind a strong leader. Such a unification would end the Communist threat in France, where the Reds number 1,000,000 party members but poll several times that many votes.

Despite enthusiastic acclaim wherever he speaks, "le grand Charlie" faces a formidable task. His plan has been received coolly by both Right and Left. Organizing a dominant political party among the individualistic French is more difficult than halting all motion in a can of night crawlers. But if France's makeshift coalition of Catholics, Socialists and Communists doesn't straighten up and fly right, De Gaulle will be the man to whom Frenchmen again turn.

Closing The Account

The United States is moving to close its $35 billions of lend-lease accounts, taking cash wherever possible, although there is no likelihood any budget balancing will be done on the sums paid back.

The first to go into a settlement huddle is Russia which has been receiving duns, the tone of which has been increasingly importunate. The Soviet government has received $11 billions of supplies from the United States, against which is credited the comparatively trifling sum of $2,213,000 in reverse lend-lease. There also are 95 cargo vessels turned over to Russia and upon which no value has been announced. Of the total owed by Russia, 75 percent will be "written off" as military supplies. What constitutes "military supplies" will be one of the fine points to be settled by the negotiators.

A survey of supplies delivered to Russia indicates the scope of our aid and explains some shortages Americans are experiencing even now. The list includes 11,158 freight cars, 335,883 trucks, 62,485,000 yards of wool cloth, 49,880 tons of leather products other than shoes, of which there were 15,417,000 pairs, and even $1,647,000 worth of buttons.

The fact that Russia is shopping for a $1 billion loan is the principal reason she is showing a desire to settle her lend-lease indebtedness. Uncle Sam doesn't want her on the cuff for more until there's evidence her credit is good.

Charting a Course

Thoughtful men in Washington have long realized that the United States foreign policy involves so many factors and side-issues that it is difficult to keep sights fixed on long-range goals.

One bill, one facet of foreign policy, is up for consideration at a time, with the result that there are occasions when there seems to be no established policy. For instance, since the end of the war, while we have been working to check the spread of communism in western Europe, we have allocated, in one form or another, $1,807,707,512 to Soviet Russia and her allies. Perhaps this money is well invested and not working at cross purposes with our long-range aims, but it would not seem so.

While the Communists in America and those who oppose them go buying up side trails, arguing aid to Greece or berating Henry Wallace, there is need that the men in the saddle have a firm grasp of the positive economic aspects of our foreign policy, rather than its negative political aspects. To this end, Representative C. A. Herder of Massachusetts proposes a select committee on foreign aid. This group, to be made up of two members of each congressional committee dealing with foreign aid questions, would make a continuing study of the best way to relate our expenditures abroad to our resources and our chief objectives. Thus, the left hand wouldn't be undoing what the right hand does.

The proposal is a meritorious one. Charting a path through the labyrinthine ways of postwar Europe is a task that needs an expert hand at every turning. It is a task which requires sagacious counsel and frequent reference to the compass to make certain we are heading toward the ultimate goal by the shortest course.

The Stars Say

For Tuesday, April 22

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

ADVERSE planetary configurations give warning of a confused, uncertain and complicated state of affairs, in which it would be easy to become so involved as to cause loss, misery, separations and danger to funds, resources and other treasured possessions.

This in business and financial entanglement as well as in emotional, spiritual and mental attitudes.

Schemes, duplicity and intrigue are likely to ensnare because of lack of sagacity, clear vision and good intent. False values and greed may lure and wreck fond hopes.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year of loss, separations, blocked interests and ambitions, largely because of an obscure, unreasonable and tricky state of mind, in which it would be probable that wrong decisions and jumping at hazardous conclusions might find unhappy reactions on business, financial, professional and affectional life.

Illicit notions, erratic ideas, greed or sinister purpose might precipitate such adverse and deplorable conditions. Pause for reflection before taking any decisive step.

A child born on this day may be inclined to act from strange impulses or quixotic ideas, being subject to snares and intrigue, to its detriment and personal loss or sorrow.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

High and Low Blood Pressure

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

"HYPO" and "HYPER" are prefixes of exactly opposite meaning. The first signifies a lack; the second an excess. Thus, in medical language, low blood pressure is called hypotension while high blood pressure is known as hypertension.

But though the names are exactly contrasted, the conditions they refer to are not. High blood pressure is a real disease. Low blood pressure on the other hand is not.

True, it is a condition which varies from the normal but it is not harmful. Indeed, many doctors believe that low blood pressure actually increases the chances for a long life.

May Cause Discomforts

Nevertheless, it may cause certain discomforts. Most people with low blood pressure are inclined to be listless.

Some of the patients with low blood pressure go about their business as usual but from time to time they have attacks of dizziness and weakness. Emotional upsets as well as digestive disturbances often bring on attacks. The patient also may develop dizziness when he changes from a sitting position to a standing one.

Some of the patients, may, for several hours a day, have weakness which keeps them from their usual physical efforts. In some instances, the patient cannot stand more than several minutes at a time without a feeling of faintness, sweating, sickness to the stomach and paleness of the skin. Many persons with low blood pressure require long hours of sleep.

Weakness of Muscles

According to Dr. S. Watson Smith of England, low blood pressure is thought to be weakness of the muscles, especially of those in the blood wall. Loss of strength here allows the blood to relax so that the flow of blood is slowed down.

It has been suggested also that weakness of the muscles in the wall of the abdomen contributes particularly to the condition since this allows dropping of the organs within the abdomen. It is thought that perhaps heredity may dispose some people to low blood pressure.

In the treatment of low blood pressure it is suggested that the patient wear a supporting belt which holds up the abdomen. The patient wears the belt when he is up and around but not when he is in bed.

Such drugs as amphetamine as well as epinephrine and ephedrine may be helpful. However, these drugs give only temporary relief.

The patient should receive a fully balanced diet, sufficient fluids and plenty of rest. Low blood pressure, as a rule, is not serious but because of the symptoms which it produces it should be promptly treated.

The patient with low blood pressure should never be treated as an invalid but should be encouraged to as much activity as he is able to undertake.

It should always be remembered that many people with definitely low pressure are active and even energetic.

Letters to Dr. Bundesen should be addressed in care of 235 E. 45th St., New York City.

The Nation Today

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, April 21.—It's very elegant here when congress talks.
It's worth coming to see how polite some people—meaning congressmen—can be to people—meaning congressmen—they don't like.
They have some bad minutes, of course. But they try to keep everything on a very high plane.
When a congressman gets mad at another congressman—it happens all the time—he doesn't jump and say:
"Look, you pumped-up meathead, don't you know you're talking like a dummy?"
No. He may be mad enough to pull the skin off the other man but he swallows hard and comes out with something like:
"Isn't the distinguished gentleman from Pennsylvania aware...?"

CALLING a man a name—or by his right name—is the wrong thing to do in the best congressional circles on the floor.
What congressmen may call one another off the floor and out of sight doesn't get into the Record.
Even in hot argument, a congressman is always referred to as the "gentleman from such-and-such a state."
In short—A congressman never seems to talk directly to another congressman. He speaks to him in the third person. For example:
A congressman never says "do you think so?" instead, he says: "Does the esteemed gentleman from Missouri think so?"

THE SENATORS are even more polite to one another than the representatives, if that's possible.
When one senator wants to beat another over the head, he wraps the brick in a pretty bouquet and starts out.
"I'm quite sure the gracious and eloquent senator from so-and-so state—"
Then he tears into his quarry, al-

With District Men In the Service

Robert G. Halverstadt, seaman, first class, son of Mrs. B. D. Halverstadt, 1561 E. State st., who is serving aboard the aircraft carrier USS Philippine Sea, has been made a charter member in the Order of the Penguin.
The order was created by Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd especially for the 4,000 men of Task Force 68 who crossed the Antarctic circle more careful to stay out of cat fights than the representatives.

Sometimes in the house a congressman blows his top, cutting loose with language against another member that raises all the members' hair.
When that happens, the speaker can order the remarks stricken from the record and tell the offender he can't talk for the rest of the day.
That's like telling him to go stand in the corner with his hands on his head for being a bad boy.
More than 25 per cent of forest fires in the United States are traceable to careless smokers.

while participating in "Operation Highjump."
The Philippine Sea is the only aircraft carrier to have penetrated below the Antarctic circle. Her mission with "Operation Highjump" was to carry Rear Admiral Byrd, technical commander of the expedition and six transport planes within easy flying distance of Little America.
These DC 3 transports became the largest planes ever launched from a carrier deck.
During her six day sojourn at a rendezvous area in the Ross Sea 600 miles from Little America the ship transferred 100 tons of cargo, 100,000 pieces of mail and additional personnel to three ships, one from each group of Task Force 68, and delivered mail to a submarine operating in those waters.

Among those taken aboard the Philippine Sea, the first ship to return to the States from the Antarctic expedition, were five of the six survivors of the December patrol bomber crash.
Approximately 300 icebergs were counted in the ship's vicinity and she came within 10 miles of the forbidding ice pack.
The two month, 19,000 mile cruise, which made Naval and aviation history, took the crew of 1,800 through a gauntlet of weather ranging from torrid to frigid.

The Telephone Strike Can Be Ended Now

THE COMPANY SAYS that its wages are good and compare favorably with those paid in the same communities. Besides good wages there are seven holidays with pay; up to three weeks' vacation with pay; sickness benefits by the company starting with four weeks' full pay and nine weeks' half pay for two years' service and going up to a maximum of a year's full pay; one of the most liberal pension plans carried entirely by the company; a steady job the year round; interesting work in congenial surroundings.

THE UNION SAYS that it wants much more: "$12.00 per week increase and other changes adding up to a great deal more. Nobody blames anybody for that — telephone people are good people and it is natural to want more."

THE PUBLIC WANTS a fair settlement and it wants it now! Customers have a right to service and they have a right to a settlement that is fair to them. Wages come out of the rates that are paid for service. Most of these rates are for service within Ohio and are subject to approval by the Ohio public through their delegated authorities. The total cost of the union demands would be $35,000,000 per year, or almost three times the total earnings of the company last year. The cost on the average would be over $2.00 per month per telephone.

The Strike Can Be Ended Now If Wages Are The Real Issue

All the union and the company have to do is to agree upon, say three good and impartial people and abide by their decision as to what the wages should be in Ohio. Both sides of the case may be presented fully. That is arbitration and it has been used many times to settle honest differences of opinion.

Arbitration in Ohio could be completed in thirty days, and the wage rates settled, while everybody would be at work and be getting their pay.

The company agreed to abide by such a decision before the strike started. It will now. The strike can stop now without the loss of wages that goes on week by week.

Why Is This Offer Refused By The Union?

- Can it be that the leaders have signed away the right to bargain such a settlement in Ohio?
  - Can it be that gathering together the power of a national union is more important than getting Ohio wages settled?
  - Can it be that union shop (compulsory membership in the union, denying the right to work of those who do not join or who lose their membership) is more important than getting a fair settlement of wages?
  - Can it be that, for these reasons, the bargaining that was done was doomed to failure before it started?
- If not, then why, in the name of common sense can't the Ohio Federation of Telephone Workers, with whom the company has always bargained in good faith, agree to so fair a proposition as abiding by the judgment of an arbitration board which they would select in collaboration with the company?
- There is everything to gain by accepting arbitration. Service can be resumed to the public. Work and wages can go ahead. The settlement can be accomplished promptly.

THE OHIO BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

THE COMPANY SINCERELY APPRECIATES THE COOPERATION AND UNDERSTANDING OF ITS CUSTOMERS AND THOUSANDS OF FAVORABLE COMMENTS WHICH IT HAS RECEIVED. THE COMPANY WILL CONTINUE TO DO EVERYTHING POSSIBLE TO COMPLETE CALLS.

Severyn-Scully Vows Exchanged

When Miss Betty Severyn, daughter of Mrs. Mary Severyn of the Georgetown rd., became the bride of Frank J. Scully, son of Mrs. Mary A. Scully of Struthers, at 10 a. m. Saturday in St. Paul's Catholic church, she wore an attractive char-creuse suit with brown accessories and a corsage of roses and stephanotis.

As maid of honor, her sister, Miss Lucille Severyn, wore a becoming suit with brown accessories, augmented with a gardenia corsage.

Edward Scully of Wierton, W. Va., served his brother as best man.

Rev. Fr. Higgins of Sallenville, performed the double ring ceremony before an altar resplendent with white flowers and white candles in brass holders. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Gus.

A wedding breakfast for the families was served at the Lape hotel. A tiered wedding cake topped with matched wedding rings, decked the table ornamented with flowers.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Severyn, was costumed in light blue and wore a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Scully, the groom's mother, was dressed in aqua and wore a corsage of gardenias.

The bride, a graduate of Salem High school, was employed by the Mohr Motors Inc., Youngstown.

Mr. Scully graduated from Struthers High school and is employed by the National Sanitary Co. After a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls and Canada, the couple will reside with the bride's mother.

Guests were from Wierton, Struthers, Poland and Leetonia.

★ WE, THE WOMEN

By RUTH MILLETT
HER 14-year-old daughter wanted to have a party for her crowd in the basement rumpus room. So she checked to see that there were plenty of dance records, outdid herself on refreshments, and prepared herself for a noisy, jitter-bugging party in the basement.

But soon after all the guests arrived, they turned out the lights and settled down for an evening of necking.

The mother did not turn on the lights because she was afraid she would embarrass her daughter and be regarded as an old fuddy-duddy by her daughter's friends. This isn't an isolated case. Enough such incidents are being reported to me by mothers who profess not to know how to handle the situation, that it must be quite a common problem.

The line of the protesting parent is always the same: "What can I do when other parents let them get away with these parties?"

DON'T BE AN EASY MARK
The first thing to do is quit worrying about standing in good with the teenage crowd and being a good sport in their eyes. Isn't it better to have teenagers think you are strict than to have them size you up as an easy mark?

The next thing is to get the parents of the whole teenage crowd together and agree on a few standards for home parties.

After all, it's pretty ridiculous to think that a bunch of teenagers can outsmart their elders and get them so mixed up in their thinking they can't stick to their guns.

Retiring Young Man

NEW YORK—Howard Styne figures he's good for another five years as a businessman, then he'll retire. That will make him 25 years old.

In less than a year he already has run his independent recording company and a small inheritance from an idea into a business that's pushing half a million dollars in volume. If it grows at that speed for the next five years, he'll be sitting pretty.

Styne is showing his way into the already overcrowded record field with new ideas for children's records. He may be getting the jump of his competitors because he's mathematically closer to being a child than they are, but there is nothing childish about the way he pushed his first album—stories of Fala, the late President Roosevelt's famed scottie—into the best-seller class with sales of over 100,000.

Another Stunt

He followed this with a group of songs about two children, Bobby and Betty, seeing Washington for the first time. This one was based on a story by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

Then he pulled the record scoop of the year. He signed the Right Rev. Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen to record the Life of Christ. Cardinal Spellman agreed to do an introduction to it. When that's done, Styne plans to record Father Flanagan's famous Boys' Town Choir.

"The big sure money is in the popular fields," Styne says. I'm leaving that to the older concerns. I'm out to establish a new kind of market, most of it serious. There's a moral connected with everything we do."

Styne doesn't spend all his time, even now, in his business. He goes to music school in his spare time.

"When I'm 25 I hope to turn the business over to some competent people and devote all my time to music. My ambition is to produce and write music for a Broadway show."

Meanwhile, Styne has surrounded himself with young men in his office.

"We have one man who's 28 but I think I'll have to fire him. He's getting too old."

Mason Introduces Bill Which Would Benefit Motorists

A bill which would make it possible for motorists to be released on their own recognizance for minor traffic violations will be introduced in the Ohio legislature this week by State Sen. Jonathan C. Mason of East Liverpool.

Sen. Mason has prepared an amendment to the state code which now requires the posting of a cash bond by motorists who may be halted for such violations as speeding, failing to observe stop signs, traffic light crashing and others.

The bill would give an arresting officer the right to take the name, address and license number of such a person and allow him to proceed. Within seven days the officer would be required to notify the offending motorist of the date and place for trial and of the amount of the bond he must post if he desired to enter a not guilty plea and stand trial.

Given 10 Day's Grace

According to Mason's bill, the driver would be required to reply to the summons within 10 days, otherwise he could be arrested by the officer who filed the charge or on a warrant sent to the police in the community in which the offending motorist resides.

He then would be given a trial either in the county in which the violation occurred or in a local court deputized to dispose of the case.

Sen. Mason said the bill is modeled after that in Pennsylvania. He pointed out that frequently motorists are stopped for a traffic violation and that they are without funds to put up a cash bail. Frequently, he declared, they are detained for hours until the matter can be adjusted.

Another bill presented by Sen. Mason some weeks ago, removing sales taxes on trade-in allowances on automobiles and refrigerators, has been referred to a sub-committee of the Senate tax committee.

DEPARTMENT OF AMAZEMENT

Anyone who may be harboring the idea that Massillon has slipped, isn't the same old football hotbed and doesn't continue to put on the greatest high school show in the world—well, just think again.

Friday night, the occasion of the annual Senior-varsity spring training game, eight thousand people turned out to see the football antics and the show of that great Massillon swing band.

The affair was good enough and attractive enough to entice Cleveland's Paul Brown, Ohio State's Wesley Fesler and Carroll Widows, Ken Trevor Rees and Harry Adams, Cleveland's Ray Wade of Case and BW's Ray Watts, Associated Press's Fritz Howell and other newspaper and radio men from all over northeastern and central Ohio.

The seniors, incidentally, won the game, whipping Coach Bud Houghton's varsity of next year 21-0. But the seniors included 10 of last year's starting lineup.

The Massillon Tigers Boosters club sponsor the sidelights of the annual event and invited the celebrities and the press and radio people.

At the game Brown, Widows and Fesler all sat on the same bench for a time—thereby giving Massillon a distinction. Ohio State couldn't achieve that event in over five years—without losing half its already aroused Alumni.

The Tigers swing band is just as good as ever, barring the fact that only two rather wet practice weeks were available before the game. George "Red" Bird, now of the Cleveland Browns' majorities, was on hand to see the halftime affair. He loved it, said it felt just like home again.

It was a great evening—the kind only Massillon High has perfected so far.

DEPARTMENT OF CONJECTURE

The word is well around in Cleveland and other interested sections that Al Sutphin—the ink man and sports promoter—is just about ready to sell out his controlling interests in the Arena and the Baron hockey club.

According to those in the know Al has decided that it's time he sat back and enjoyed life, without the hustle and bustle always connected with making a thing and institution like the Arena click.

Al started the Arena back in 1937 when things were tough and everyone had a mild idea that he was a bit cracked-pottery for trying it then. He invested heavily and talked many others into a similar arrangement.

He made the joint jump with paying customers and paid off all interested parties with big dividends.

His most obvious error in that time—oddly enough his most recent innovation at the ice house—pre basketball, very probably was a flop mainly because Al hasn't been so close to Arena goings on in the past season.

He just doesn't have the old zip and interest to put the thing over. Pro basketball flopped financially in Cleveland but it would be safe to

Eddie Miller Established As Reds' Mainstay

Leads The Way As Pirate Chain Is Broken; Boston Goes Down For First Time

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
Eddie Miller, who only a few weeks ago was put on display in a showcase window for disposal to the highest bidder without attracting any takers, definitely established himself today as the key to Cincinnati's chances for a first division berth.

The glue-fingered shortstop, currently pacing the major league hitters with four home runs in seven games, is still a member of the Reds only because no other club in the majors was willing to take a chance on his throwing arm.

Miller's two home runs yesterday helped the Reds gain an even break in their doubleheader with the Pirates at Pittsburgh. Angie Galan and Bobby Adams joined Miller in the home run parade to lead the Reds to a 13-5 victory over the Pirates in the opener. Three of Pittsburgh's runs resulted from Hank Greenberg's second home run of the campaign.

The Pirates bounced back to win the nightcap 7-3 in the second game, limited to five and a half innings because of darkness. The split left the Pirates still in first place with five victories in six starts.

Another previously unbeaten nine, the American league champion Boston Red Sox, bit the dust for the first time when the Washington Senators, behind Walter Masterson's superb three-hit slinging, downed them 3-1 in the capitol. The Nats got to Mel Parnell, making his big league debut, for three of their seven hits in the first inning to score all their runs.

With Joe DiMaggio playing his first full game of the season, the New York Yankees turned on the Athletics twice to sweep a double header in Philadelphia 6-2 and 3-2. DiMaggio celebrated his return with a three-run homer in the first game to enable Spud Chandler to win his first victory.

The Chicago Cubs, paced by Bill Nicholson's two home runs, good for six RBI, handed the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals their fourth defeat in six games 7-4 and dumped them ingloriously into the National League cellar.

Ben Chapman's Philadelphia Phillies made it three in a row over the Giants by trouncing the New Yorkers 10-1 at the Polo grounds. Ron Northey, with three hits, and Jim Tabor and Andy Seminick, with four baggers, led the Philly attack on four pitchers. Schoolboy Rowe speeded six hits to gain his second win, both against the Giants.

Rain and wet grounds caused the postponement of the scheduled games between Brooklyn and Boston in the National league and Detroit-Cleveland and St. Louis-Chicago in the American.

Sidelights On Massillon Show, Mansfield Relays

BY FRITZ HOWELL
Ohio AP Sports Editor
CLEVELAND, April 21.—Amazing Massillon has done it again.

The Stark county town of some 30,000, long known as the hottest scholastic football spot in America, wound up its high school spring football training Friday night with an intra-squad game in which the seniors played the boys who will make up next fall's varsity.

So what happens? So close to 7,000 fans paid 75 cents each to sit in on the contest—a game which didn't mean a thing. The famed Massillon band was out in full regalia, presenting the high spots of each of last year's programs, and the seniors won the game 21 to 0.

Lots of Ohio high schools can't draw 7,000 fans to a full season of "the chips are down" games, but the folks around Massillon didn't think the 7,000 turnout for the intra-squad tilt was unusual.

Quite a few of Ohio's collegiate coaches were on hand, too, for a look at the graduating talent and the post-game festivities. Among the visitors were Paul Brown and Assistant Johnny Brinkley of the pro Cleveland Browns; Wesley Fesler and Carroll Widows of Ohio State; Trevor Rees and Harry Adams of Kent State; Ray Watts of Baldwin Wallace, and Ray Wade of Case.

R. L. (Dick) Kroesen, Cleveland's yarn-spinning athletic goods dealer and chief official of Mansfield's Saturday relays, created a bit of excitement at the post-game dinner for celebrities.

He saw Fesler and Brown chatting in a corner and immediately whispered that he thought Brown was going to sign the new Ohio State mentor as end coach for the professional Browns, but both principals squelched the report in a hurry.

Both Brown and Fesler said they were impressed by the showing of the Massillon seniors, but that the 1947 varsity looked good, too.

Eddie Finnegan of Baldwin Wallace, coach of hurdling genius Harrison Dillard, disclosed at Saturday's Mansfield relays that he had been offered a Big Ten coaching job, but that it was a "come right now" proposition and that he had turned it down.

Up in Columbiana county, where Columbiana copped the state Class B basketball championship, the folks are still a bit hilarious about that victory. The Clippers have been guests at nine banquets up to date in the town of 2,800.

On top of that the townfolk chipped in a "pot" of about $3,700, of which they say $1,000 will go to Coach John Cabas, although no one has explained just how they'll get around the State High School Athletic association's rule on such things.

The boys on the squad will each receive $110 wrist watches, but they won't get 'em until graduation, thus not disturbing their eligibility under the association rule which limits the value of any award to a high school athlete to one dollar.
